ático offers digital animation and video production services for businesses in the retail, services, and digital agency sectors.

Today, videos have become the preferred medium of information consumption. Leveraging 10 years of expertise, ático manages the entire process, from start to finish, tailoring their approach to their clients' needs. Although animation isn't an exact science, ático has a proven process that translates their clients' preferences, style, and requirements into a dynamic, positive, and engaging brand story.

Estudio Shout

Key offering: Full-service studio specializing in 3D animation, 3D asset creation and 2D motion graphics

 Website

 LinkedIn

Estudio Shout is an animation studio offering 3D animation art solutions for the video game industry.

Video game developers often lack visually compelling material to successfully pitch and get funding for their projects. Estudio Shout helps developers by creating a complete pitch demo package to visualize how the video game will look like, without the need of actually developing a working prototype. The service includes a 45-second pitch animated video, still images, turntables, concept design and key material for their presentation and marketing. By reducing costs and prototype time, a publisher can quickly get the full idea of what the developer has in mind for their video game and secure funding deals.
